

DecoyPedia™ is a website that compiles information on fish decoy carvers and their fish. We promote fish carving in every way possible.

DecoyPedia™ sponsors fish contest classes at 'The Gathering' at Perham Minnesota each April and hopes to expand on that to the Michigan show in September. We have and are building a large library of works, books and magazines that are in support of fish decoys. We are trying to make your research of decoy carvers and their folk-art carvings easy and at your fingertips. You help us gather tons of information on carvers and collectors and the Fish. It is our hope that you enjoy the site as much as we have in creating an encyclopedia reference site for decoy carvers, collectors and researchers. The website is an in-progress site, which means that as new information becomes available it will be updated. Your comments and information are always welcomed and will help make the DecoyPedia™ better for all users. You can email us by using the contact form on the website. This ensures that your email does not get lost in spam software. Check www.decoypedia.com often and read the POSTs on the right side as we will be posting your info here for a quick read.
